GALLAUDET IN SMITHSONIAN EXHIBIT

Several artifacts from Gallaudet have been included in the Smithsonian's "We the People" exhibit commemorating the Bicentennial.

A silver inkwell and pen which belonged to Edward Miner Gallaudet are among the items. The College was asked to contribute items to be included in the section of the exhibit which relates the story of interaction between government and education throughout our nation's history.

On display in the History and Technology Building, "We the People" will be part of the Smithsonian's exhibits for approximately the next five years.

SECOND ALUM GETS EMMY AWARD

The Hollywood Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences has honored Gregg Brooks with an Emmy Award for Outstanding Individual Achievement in a Series for his news reporting on Theta Cable Television in Los Angeles.

Weekly Community Report for the Deaf is prepared by Gregg from news he collects from the deaf community.

LRL ON THE GO

The staff of the Linguistics Research Laboratory have really been on the move this summer.

James Woodward, Harry Markowicz, Jenny Henderson and Carol Erting have been in France since early May exploring the relationship and separate development of the French and American sign languages.

William Stokoe was the first visiting lecturer at the Scandinavian Society for Deaf Mental Health followed by seminars in Copenhagen and at Stockholm University.

Deaf patients in all North Carolina's mental health centers were recently moved to a new facility at Broughton Hospital in Morganton. William Stokoe was invited to conduct a workshop for hospital staff and teachers from the North Carolina School for the Deaf to set up a communication improvement program.

The Lab has also set up a cooperative research project with the University of West Virginia. The project deals with deaf TTY users and the field of communication network analysis.

In June, a paper was presented by Robbin Battison and William Stokoe at the National Symposium on Mental Health Needs of Deaf Children and Adults in Chicago.

THE NEXT ISSUE OF ON THE GREEN WILL BE July 23. UNTIL THEN, KEEP COOL.
